Indian Polity affianced with law-breakers

-nder current political dispensation to be an informed citizen, it's very important to understand the Indian Polity that is betrothed to law-breakers. Society is governed by tainted politicians. People in India vote for persons who govern us and they are termed as Public Servants. But there are some such elected persons who in the disguise of Public Servants are criminals. The system of electing representatives is faulty that suits best to illiterate, corrupt and criminal politicians to enter the Parliament. And further such stigmatized elected 'Law-Breakers' became as 'Law- Makers' by the blessings of PM, who never thought of keeping his cabinet neat and clean. Basically in a refined society, the person with tainted history should be barred from contesting elections and parties giving mandate to such candidates be deregistered to contest elections. Under the existing law, politicians are banned from contesting elections for six years only if they are convicted for the crime. Supreme Court of India, in its judgment dated 10 July 2013 while disposing of the Lily Thomas v/s Union of India case ruled that any MP, MLA or MLC who is convicted of a crime and given a minimum of two years' imprisonment, loses membership of the House with immediate effect. This was in contrast to the earlier position, wherein convicted members were held on to their seats until they exhausted all judicial remedy in lower, state and Supreme Court of India. In an attempt to overturn this decision, the Representation of the People (Second Amendment and Validation) Bill, 2013, was introduced into the Rajya Sabha on 30 August by the then Law Minister and by virtue of the proposed amendment; representatives would not be disqualified immediately after conviction. The Indian government also filed a review petition, which the Supreme Court dismissed. The Government tried to bring the bill into effect as an ordinance. The controversial ordinance, which would have sidestepped a Supreme Court judgment disqualifying convicted MPs and MLAs, was withdrawn by the Government after it was publically torn by ruling party's vice-President. Our Indian democracy has seen a steady increase in the level of criminalization creeping into Indian polity. This tends to disrupt constitutional ethos, strikes at the root of democratic form of government and makes citizens suffer. Nearly 1,700 MPs and MLAs, a little over a third of all elected representatives in India, face criminal charges. The PMs/CMS of the country had never bothered to keep their cabinet neat and clean and had been inducting tainted MPs/MLAs as ministers in their cabinet. A five-judge Constitution Bench, headed by Chief Justice of India, on 7th August 2014, held that while it cannot issue directives to the PM or CMs, a cabinet with clean leaders was legitimately expected and advised the Prime Minister and Chief Ministers not to induct in their ministries people against whom charges have been framed in criminal or corruption cases. In another judgment, Justice Kurian Joseph referred to the Constituent Assembly debate wherein Dr B R Ambdekar had said the issue was to be left to the good senses of the PM and the CMs, since it was expected that they would not induct an otherwise unfit person. Hence, it has become the bounden duty of the court to remind the PM and CMs of their duty to act in accordance with the constitutional aspirations and advised to consider avoiding any person in the council of ministers against whom charges have been framed by a criminal court. In 2018, a bunch of petitions filed before the Supreme Court had argued that this should change. But in a judgment. The Supreme Court has declined to ban politicians with criminal cases from contesting elections but underlined that it is time Parliament enacts laws to ensure that people with criminal cases do not enter politics. Our Indian democracy has seen a steady increase in the level of criminalization creeping into Indian polity. According to the Association for Democratic Reforms, in the year 2004, 24% of the MPs had criminal cases pending against them, the number was 30% in 2009, and it shot up to 34% in 2014, while the number stands at 43% in the Parliament that was elected in the year 2019. Since 2014, during the regime of much boasted PM, there has been an increase of 13% MPs with criminal history. The 2014 cabinet of the present government had 20 or 31 per cent ministers who have declared criminal cases against themselves, while 11 ministers or 17 per cent were facing serious criminal cases. Presently of the 78 ministers in the cabinet, 33 (42%) have declared criminal cases against them in their election affidavits (ADR). Additionally, 24 ministers (31%) have declared serious cases against them, including those related to murder, attempt to murder and robbery.

These figures picture an alarming situation with regard to where we are heading to if things continue to go in the same direction. The Parliament over the years has failed to enact a law to set rules which would govern the penalties if legislators have criminal records or convictions. This, however, should not be a surprise because of the vested interests of people who had been sitting and are sitting in the Parliament. This tends to disrupt constitutional ethos. strikes at the root of democratic form of government and makes citizens suffer. A five-judge bench of the Supreme Court led by the Chief Justice of India has said that politicians with criminal cases must be "kept at bay". Such a law (the power to make laws is the prerogative of the legislature) should be enacted as soon as possible. The sooner the better, before it becomes fatal to democracy. Similarly in 2020, the central government opposed a plea, by a lawyer, to impose lifetime ban on all convicted politicians from contesting polls, in a bid to check rising criminalization of the polity and greater number of tainted politicians elected. The Centre's stand differs from that taken by the Election Commission, which endorsed a life ban as necessary to "champion the cause of decriminalization of politics".

EDITURI

No political party or any leader in India across all the parties and governments will ever think of decriminalization of politics as they are neck down in accommodating tainted people in their party and while in power pushing them into the Cabinet thus promoting 'Law breakers' as Law Makers'. When Polity is affianced to law-breakers, we can never expect a neat and clean government.
